Mitt Romney formulated Bain Capital with a reported $9 million in seed money from Salvadoran emigre reported to be linked to “death squads”.

Then he funded the formulation of Stage Stores with seed monies from junk bond fraudster Michael Milken.

The judge presiding over Milken's fraud case allowed the fraud monies to remain in Romney's hands because the judge's wife was an executive benefiting by the deal!

Michael Glazer (pic far left) was a Director at the Stage Stores entity, with Barry Gold the director's assistant who hired Paul Traub (mid-left glasses).

Traub was partners with Tom Petters Ponzi (pic of blue) and Marc Dreier's law firm (far right pic).

Then Traub, Barry Gold and Glazer moved over to eToys (pretending to be opponents), while Glazer paid himself & Bain $100 million – Traub Prosecuting
